analysing architecture offers a unique notebook of architectural strategies to present an engaging introduction to elements and concepts in architectural design beautifully illustrated throughout with the author's original drawings now in its fifth edition Analysing Architecture has become internationally established as the best introduction to architecture aimed primarily at those studying architecture. It offers a clear and accessible insight into the workings of this rich and fascinating subject with copious illustrations from his own notebooks the author dissects examples from around the world and all periods of history to explain the underlying strategies in architectural design and show how drawing may be used as a medium for analysis. In this new edition Analysing Architecture has been revised and expanded notably the chapter on how analysis can help design has been redeveloped to clearly explain this crucially important aspect of study to a beginner readership. Four new chapters have been added to the section dealing with themes in spatial organisation on axis grid datum place and hidden material from the case studies in previous editions has been redistributed amongst earlier chapters. The introduction has been completely rewritten and the format of the whole book has been adjusted to allow for the inclusion of more and better illustrative examples. Works of architecture are instruments for managing orchestrating modifying our relationship with the world around us they frame just about everything we do. Architecture is complex subtle frustrating but ultimately extremely rewarding. It can be a difficult discipline to get to grips with nothing in school quite prepares anyone for the particular demands of an architecture course but this book will help. instagram.com/analysingarchitecture

Twenty Five Buildings Every Architect Should Understand is an essential companion to Simon Unwin's Analysing Architecture and part of the trilogy which also includes his Exercises in Architecture: Learning to Think as an Architect. Together the three books offer an introduction to the workings of architecture providing for the three aspects of learning: theory, examples and practice. Twenty Five Buildings focusses on analysing examples using the methodology offered by Analysing Architecture which operates primarily through the medium of drawing. In this second edition five further buildings have been added to the original twenty from an even wider geographical area which now includes the USA, France, Italy, Mexico, Switzerland, Spain, Finland, Germany, Australia, Norway, Sweden, India and Japan. The underlying theme of Twenty Five Buildings every architect should understand is the relationship of architecture to the human being how it frames our lives and orchestrates our experiences how it can help us make sense of the world and contribute to our senses of identity and place exploring these dimensions through a wide range of case studies that illustrate the rich diversity of twentieth and twenty first century architecture this book is essential reading for every architect

a companion volume to the author s successful text analysing architecture this book follows the same approach and format to explore conceptual themes in architecture further the underlying theme of twenty five buildings every architect should understand is the relationship of architecture to the human being how it frames our lives and orchestrates our experience how it can help us make sense of the world and contribute to our sense of identity and place exploring these dimensions through a wide range of case studies that illustrate the rich diversity of twentieth and twenty first century architecture this book is essential reading for every architect with the addition of numerous shorter analyses this new edition covers an even greater range of architectural ideas providing students and architects with further inspiration for exploration in their own design work architects live by ideas but where do they come from and how do they shape buildings there is no one right way to do architecture this book illustrates many its aim is to explore the rich diversity of architectural creativity by analysing a wide range of examples to extract the ideas behind them twenty five buildings every architect should understand is a companion to simon unwin s analysing architecture the universal language of place making most recent edition 2021 and part of the trilogy which also includes his exercises in architecture learning to think as an architect second edition 2022 together the three books offer an introduction to the workings of architecture providing for the three aspects of learning theory examples and practice twenty five buildings focusses on analysing examples using the methodology offered by analysing architecture which operates primarily through the medium of drawing an underlying theme of twenty five buildings every architect should understand is the relationship of architecture to the human being how it frames our lives and orchestrates our experiences how it can help us give form to the world and contributes to our senses of identity and place exploring these dimensions through case studies that illustrate the rich diversity of twentieth and twenty first century architecture this book is essential reading and hopefully an inspiration for every architect in this new edition supplementary analysis and discussion has been added to each of the twenty five case studies drawing attention to their influences from and on other architects a number of extra shorter analyses have been included too following the practice of presenting extra small dishes interspersed among main courses in high end restaurants these additional short analyses account for the sign after twenty five in the title of this edition and double the number of buildings analysed to around fifty this revised edition of exercises in architecture learning to think as an architect is full of new content building on the success of the previous edition all the original exercises have been revised and new ones added with the format changing to allow the inclusion of more supplementary material the aim remains the same to help pre or early course architecture students begin and develop their ability to think as architects learning to do architecture is tricky it involves awakening abilities that remain dormant in most people it is like learning language for the first time a task made more mystifying by the fact that architecture deals not in words but in places places to stand to walk to sit to hide to sleep to cook to eat to work to play to worship this book was written for those who want to be architects it suggests a basis for early experiences in a school of architecture but it could also be used in secondary schools and colleges or as self directed preparation for students in the months before entering professional education exercises in architecture builds on and supplements the methodology for architectural analysis presented in the author's previous book analysing architecture the universal language of place making fifth edition 2021 and demonstrated in his twenty five buildings every architect should understand routledge 2015 together the three books deal with the three aspects of learning any creative discipline 1 analysing architecture provides a methodology for analysis that develops an understanding of the way architecture works 2 twenty five buildings explores and extends that methodology through analysis of examples as case studies and 3 exercises in architecture offers a way of expanding understanding and developing fluency by following a range of rudimentary and more sophisticated exercises those who wish to become professional architects wherever in the world they might be must make a conscious effort to learn the universal language of architecture as place making to explore its powers and how they might be used the exercises in this book are designed to help
